

Thursday 27 Oct 2000 print out for $3 Niz. vahn

The Executives

So in effect, the computer changes voltage to the screen & speaks to produce pictures and images

So ... its changes in Voltage that causes the computer screen to make different colours

So ... that its changes in voltage causes different sounds to come across the speakers

The computer is in a field ... altering the current to the divider.

Because it's "digital", then Voltage are quantified steps, not as smooth gradation. For sight & sound, this is a continuous subject.